

Granato

Grapes and pomegranate have common origins and are often found growing together in the Mediterranean basin. The pomegranate fruit also possesses the charm, beauty and intensity of grapes. It is thanks to this union that the name ‘Granato’ derives, the name of a Teroldego of a particular concentration and density that sinks its roots into the stones of the three vineyards in Campo Rotaliano.

Nombre del vino: Granato - Teroldego Vigneti delle Dolomiti IGT

Uva: Teroldego

Ubicación del viñedo: Antiguas viñas de pérgola en Campo Rotaliano, Mezzolombardo

Hectáreas: 4 hectáreas, en tres parcelas variadas

Terruño: Aluvial, grava y guijarros

Fermentación y clarificación: Grandes cubas abiertas, 15 meses en tonneau

Affinamento: 15 mesi in botte

Producción anual: 20.000 botellas